Roslindale, Massachusetts

As we, the class of '43, leave Roslindale High School we take with us the memory of Mr. O'Brien's unfailing good nature and generosity. We are thankful for having had him as one of our class advisers, not only for his help in our activities, but for his personal interest in us.

As our other adviser, Miss Rush has made our year a happy one. She also has inspired many of the pupils in her classes with confidence when they were preparing to secure positions.

We, the Graduating Class of 1943, extend our appreciation to both Miss Rush and Mr. O'Brien for their direction of the Senior Prom and our Class Day exercises.

CONGRATULATIONS

On this occasion of your graduation from high school to take your places in a social order based on the principles of democracy which have proven themselves worthy of the honor and respect of the people of this great nation for almost two hundred years, I venture to make the assertion that you are more fortunate than many of you realize, in spite of the doubt and uncertainty about the future which we all entertain. You are receiving a diploma which in these times is a very valuable document. It is very likely to serve as a master key which will unlock doors that open the way to your future careers. Your possession of it places you in an advantageous position, and because you have had the good fortune to acquire it I offer you, members of the Class of 1943, my heartiest congratulations.

Attention!

SENIOR COUNCIL

The Senior Council is customarily made up of the Senior Class Officers and one student from each of the Senior home rooms. The council is a representative body chosen by the members of the graduating class. The councilors consult their classmates in regard to such matters as the Senior Prom and the Year Book. Under the guidance of Miss Rush and Mr. O'Brien, the Senior Class Advisers, the Senior Council of the class of 1943 has acted in both an advisory and executive manner in making arrangements for the Senior Dance and also in gathering material for the Year Book.

CLASS SONG

Although we're now departing
From you, Oh, Roslindale,
We'll always heed your teachings,
So YOU we'll never fail.
Your walls may echo clearly,
Our farewell cries today;
But we shall not forget you
Along our worldly way.

The happiness you gave us,
Is in the past, it's true,
But memories will hold us
Forever true to you.
Oh, Roslindale, we're leaving
Our friends so tried and true,
With thoughts of reuniting
To raise a toast to you.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

"Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life." Tim. 1 - 6:19.

We, the class of 1943, have had a good opportunity throughout our school life to build a firm foundation for good character and citizenship. This opportunity has come to us in many forms. First, there has been the association with our teachers and classmates, full of experiences revealing to us the desirability of having as good an education as possible. Secondly, there is to be found in our text books and literature the store of knowledge and experience which has been accumulating since the beginning of history. Another of the many forms that this opportunity has taken is the effort to use our knowledge in the assumption of new responsibilities. In more peaceful days our efforts were bent to the building of a better society. People having diversified interests would enter many different fields of endeavor such as commerce, manufacturing, and science. If we as a class represent a cross section of American youth, we shall be similarly divided and shall be able to make contributions to society commensurate with our efforts so far. Beyond the preparation for more normal times it has evolved on this class to be faced with the necessity of preparing for the winning of the war that now covers the globe, and the assuring of a lasting peace.

During the entire year we have been constantly reminded of the present conflict: we have seen the effects of rationing in our lunch rooms; our classes have been interrupted for air raid drills; our vacations have been extended. In addition, our class has been depleted because many of our classmates have gone into war jobs and into the armed services of our country. As well as educating our minds we have been training our bodies in the recent physical education program. For these reasons we have had little opportunity to forget the war. Yet why should we try to forget it? When we leave the shelter which high school has given us, we shall go into a world which will remind us even more constantly and much more forcefully of the war. So it would seem that we are challenged to carry on to the best of our abilities to the end that our lives, our country, and the world as a whole be the better for our efforts. We accept the challenge!

CLASS HISTORY

One auspicious day in September, 1940, we decided to let the halls of "Rossie" be the scene of our activities for the next three years. This was to be the place where we would meet friends old and new, where we would indulge in more fun and frolic, and where we might advance our education, IF we had time. . . . School held no terrors for us. After all, hadn't we been in the senior class of our junior high schools? Hadn't we looked at the other classes with absolute disgust at their unsophistication? Certainly the high school was going to take us in with open arms and put us in our rightful places as dignified members of a class that would undoubtedly be one of the most memorable in the history of the school. . . . Well, we came and we WERE put in our place — but what a place! Teachers led us into classrooms, sometimes by the proverbial ear. We were ROYALLY welcomed, —with books, homelessons, and, before we knew it, with report cards. The last, we discovered, merely gave the teachers' opinions of our ability and work and were always far below our true standard. . . . After wandering around for a few weeks, we found teachers really weren't calling us names when they mentioned a hypotenuse of a right triangle or simile and metaphor. In no time at all we were thoroughly acquainted with the routine and customs of "Rossie." We still were members of the sophomore class, however, and so we couldn't run the school, although we certainly tried.

We discovered eventually that there were many parts of school that weren't half bad. There were many sports for which we could go out. Then, also, there were many clubs to which we could lend our talents. It was no time at all until we saw groups gathering in the corridors arguing and settling the world's problems. There were those who went around with waving hands and loud voices. People on the outside might think that they were fugitives from an insane asylum, but of course WE knew that they were just harmless members of the Dramatic Club. . . . Some of the girls went out for horseback riding. They had plenty of arguments — with the horses — over a place to sit.

The month of June finally came, and we looked enviously at the seniors leaving while we remained hard at work and perspired for a few more weeks. But it all ended, and we became jovial juniors.

Now at last we were higher than someone, and we certainly took advantage of that fact. . . . School was quite normal for a time, but then came the war and with it rationing. The part that we enjoyed was the rationing of school. We could lie in bed and laugh at the alarm clock and read in the papers about the hard work that the teachers were doing while we had premature vacations.

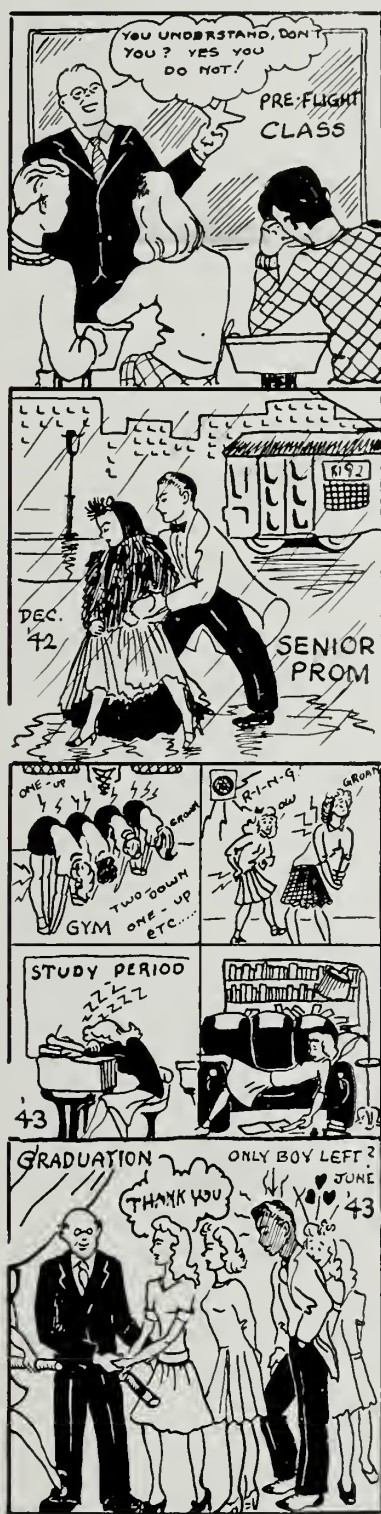

Also during our Junior year a question which had perplexed the great brains of the nation for many years proved only a meager obstacle to our Debating Club when it settled once and for all (until the next time) the Latin American problem.

With Miss Hamrock URGING the sale of tickets, the more talented members of our class and of the school presented to "Rossie", before moving to Broadway, "June Mad". As you might know, since there were members of our class in it, the performance brought down the roof.

Two days in our short stay at "Rossie" will never be forgotten. At both times the boys had on their "monkey suits". One was the day we had our prize drill competition, when we marched nobly to Fallon Field and ignobly swam back. . . . The other was the street parade in our Junior year, when the rains came and rivers flowed in the streets.

BY FRANCOISE FREDEY '43 - AND HELENE RONES - '43

BY FRANÇOISE FREDEY '43 - AND HELENE RONES '43

The future politicians of our country got into practice when the time came for our election. For many days before we were to exercise our franchise, the corridors were filled with soap boxes left behind as the campaigns rolled along. Finally after a hectic campaign and a close election, especially for vice-president, Ken Crook, Bill Durkee, Marie Foley, and Kay Shepherd emerged victorious.

So we perched on the threshold of our senior year, and only the barrier of time prevented us from being lofty seniors.

The week after Labor Day we took the fatal step into our senior year. We did not foresee the dark shadows that lurked in distant corners. During this crucial time we did not falter or become faint-hearted. Up went our heads, back went our shoulders, and forward we strode.

Some of us did not have long to linger, for the call went forth from the defense factories for High School MEN. Immediately a large number of able-bodied scholars left sadly. Heartfelt were the sighs of these new members of the army of the home front. Now they had to leave the problems of the "mugwumps" and "muck-rakers" to future students. No longer could they spend their many study periods in the library poring over biographies and Shakespeare's plays.

Then there were those staunch patriots who gave up the pleasures of the pursuit of knowledge for the more nerve-racking job of evading K. P. duty. On their first leave they came hurrying back to their old haunts outside their favorite teachers' doors, just to see the teachers and their former classmates, never once thinking, of course, of the good looking uniforms or the beautiful polish they had on their new shoes, nor the admiring glances cast in their direction by the girls.

The distress of us devotees of Minerva at the numerous holidays and half-holidays was so great that the idea of giving up vacations was greeted with wild shouts of joy. Some of these zealous worshippers were so impatient that when the opportunity to go to college came they hastened off.

But this was not all! Some fiend had devised the torture of physical education every day to make us supermen and superwomen. We did not waver, although the effort to keep hidden our canes and crutches was almost as great as keeping our labored breathing and creaking bones unheard.

Time has flown, and now we leave the school which has been like a second home for three short years, no longer ignorant sophomores, conceited juniors, but scholarly young men and women, who, having come through three years of laborious work, endured great torture, physical and mental, go forth into a war-torn world to conquer all that stands in our way, with the same unflinching strength that brought us through this, our senior year.

CLASS WILL

We, the class of 1943, about to celebrate the seventh Anniversary of Roslindale High School by relieving said institution of our presence, and being sound in mind and body by virtue of three years' attendance at said institution, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament — the latter being a disposal, out of the generosity of our hearts, of all our most valuable possessions, movable and immovable.

To Mr. Warren we bequeath our gratitude for his kindness, tolerance, and guidance. Filled with his inspiring teachings, we leave less afraid to face life's uncertainties.

To the faculty as a whole, our guides through the labyrinth of education, we leave our appreciation of their endeavors to make of us educated men and women.

To Miss Connor we leave a French class which won't think that Robespierre is Baby Snooks' brother.

To Miss Cogan we leave a senior gym class without any Mary Gavins, Mary Flahertys, or Betty Minkles.

To Miss Harrington we leave an entire class that can read, write, and speak English.

To Mr. Gleason we leave a streamlined weathervane that he can see from 209.

To Miss Dalv we leave a permanent setting-up drill leader.

To Miss Rush we leave an extra large vacuum cleaner to replace her little brush.

To Mr. MacGregor we leave a crossword puzzle in which he can beat the editor's time.

To Miss Martell we leave a sign language to be used by her pupils in the oral quizzes when their power of speech fails.

To Miss Flannelly we leave an embroidered lasso to be used for catching and holding on to members of the Year Book Committee.

To Mr. O'Brien we leave the management of all future proms.

To Miss Rosemary Reilly we leave an uninterrupted Current Events class.

To Mr. Landrigan we leave a schedule of the West Roxbury buses, or still better, a "B" sticker.

To Miss Rice we leave memoirs of poetic L4, a class with students that write Latin verse to their teacher.

To Mr. Pickett we leave an automatic third hand to be used for picking up the things he leaves behind him.

To Miss Consodine we leave the complicated problem of programs, especially with all the brand new subjects that must be squeezed in.

To Mr. Roche we leave a new supply of sedate seniors and joyous juniors.

To Mr. Murray we leave the new physical education program and every success in his endeavor to make Atlases out of the masculine section. If you think this seems hopeless, well, at least, grant him a top notch track team.

The Juniors we make recipients of scores of best wishes for next year. We would leave our talents, but that would be sheer presumption.

The Sophomores we invest with worry, ambition, and happiness to fill two of the "best three years in their lives."

Theresa O'Hearn leaves the formula and exclusive copyright for her surprise ending stories.

Barbara Phinney leaves the collection of novels that she reads so diligently during school hours.

Kenneth Crook leaves for hearts unknown.

Dorothy Hughes leaves a pamphlet with geometrically correct illustrations on how to get all A's.

Shirley O'Brien leaves her dimples to a posterity not graced with such attractions.

Savage leaves tamed.

Priscilla Reynolds leaves her strict adherence to silence.

Margaret Osborne leaves her boisterous and boundless enthusiasm to a less lively junior.

George McCollum leaves peace for study room teachers.

Anita Sullivan leaves her exceptional sports ability to the next sports queen.

Bette Rossetti and Ruth Fitzgerald leave their combined talents for ferreting out news for the Tattler.

Diamond leaves sparkling.

Dana Freeman leaves those dramatic pauses and gesticulations so often used in E83.

Margaret Mahoney leaves as the whispering prima donna of the class of 1943.

Jean Rice leaves her ability to do things in a quiet way.

Jerry Costello leaves a few copies of that famous financial newspaper which took up so much of his time.

Betty Ann Holland leaves her dramatic talent and poise.

Young leaves aged.

Elaine Rautenberg leaves her effervescent, versatile, and genial personality.

Charlotte Gavaghan leaves the art of impressing one's personality on others by means of a loud speaker.

Lothrop Jordan leaves his funny boosts for the Woolworth Stores.

Alice Frawley leaves her faultless hair arrangements.

Anita Richardson leaves her many, many friends.

Llewellyn Cross leaves his Bowditch for all marine minded Juniors and Sophomores.

Joan Murray leaves her glamour and sophistication.

M. Buck leaves change for a dollar.

Kay Shepherd leaves the key of the treasury to next year's honorable financial head.

Kenneth Stickney leaves his scholastic record.

Madelinc O'Brien leaves her ability to count out pennies when the nickels and dimes run out in the lunchroom cash register.

Mary Nelson leaves her make-up kit and mirror.

Edward Hickey leaves for a great future in the tea business.

C. Curley leaves straight.

Betty Cummings, a sufferer for the cause of science, leaves her test tubes and Bunsen Burner.

William Durkee leaves.

Flora Susi leaves her exceptional typing ability.

Mary Lou Barnard leaves her train of ardent admirers.

Herbert Von Euw leaves his lunches with Mr. Roche.

D. Blossom leaves withered.

Mary Hampe leaves her charming smile, mischievous dimples, and well earned popularity.

Helen Weber leaves her five feet seven inches of pleasing personality.

Norbert Smyth leaves R. H. S. for M. I. T. to get his B. S.

Barbara Roche leaves one half the piano bench in the orchestra to an equally talented Junior.

A. Bright leaves dulled.

Fredda Wickes leaves her generous but abused supply of wise cracks

Gertrude O'Leary leaves her unlimited reservoir of questions.

P. King abdicates.

Eileen O'Meara leaves a sharp knife to the lunchroom so that the sandwiches may be cut all the way through.

Anne Richards leaves a Muzzey with blank pages. She has absorbed every word.

D. Storm leaves calmed.

Ellen McCarthy leaves a bushel of apples to any promising apple fiend.

Jacqueline Maynard leaves her naturally curly hair.

Marie Moynahan leaves her optimistic nature.

William Travers, in whole hearted agreement with us, leaves "Wilbur" behind.

Ken Arnold leaves his opponents far behind in the 1000.

Bob White leaves his laryngitis, victory measles, and a cracked rib.

Frank Rando, our most versatile athlete, leaves with a letter in every sport except badminton.

George Thalín leaves Sterling Hayden envious of him.

Clifford Morrison leaves his booming voice — "hep, 1, 2, 3, 4" — in the gymnasium. You can still hear the echoes bouncing off the walls.

Bob Rowan leaves with a message to Garcia. We hope he gets there, but if he tries to drive that Plymouth he won't.

Bill and Fred Carmichael leave Rochester wondering what they did with the gasman.

In testimony whereof, we, the class of 1943, in departing quietly, and in the presence of the required number of witnesses, hereunto affix our Maroon and Gold seal to this our last will and testament, on this day of May, Anno Domini, nineteen hundred and forty-three.

THE WEAKLY BLAST

IMPORTANT BILL DEBATED IN CONGRESS

An all-women congress convened on Tuesday, to decide upon several measures of paramount importance to the men of the country. Before the house lies a bill presented by Representative Anne Richards providing for the limiting of the working day of the men at home to eight hours. Severe opposition in the person of Representative J. Burch confronted her. Miss Burch contended that when women did the housework, not even sundown saw the finish of their toil. Representative Farrant accused Miss Richards of wishing to return to the old status when men controlled congress and women, the home. Debate waxed furious, and it was only at the order of "Czar" Holleran that the deadlock was broken.

Interviews after the House had adjourned found Representatives Pauline Novak, Madeline O'Brien, Hazel Hamilton, and Barbara Schultz in favor of the bill. All four energetic and ambitious Congresswomen declared that the more lenient measure was in keeping with their policies.

In an attempt to determine the general consensus of opinion concerning this motion, your reporter interviewed several of our gracious ladies.

Claire Harol, football coach, maintains, "Defeat it! The women are doing their part. Why should the men kick?"

Joan Murray, society matron, comments, "Well, we don't want to be too hard on them! The girls are finding it more and more difficult to obtain escorts because the men are too weary to go out nights."

Dorothy Himberg, private secretary for the firm of Gross and Jennings, remarks, "I'm in favor of it. I have to stand in the street car all the way home from work. The men are so tired that we feel we must get up and give them our seats."

Social Events

At a social gathering — Edith Cousin, whose new sun-dial designs have started a craze for that venerable time-piece, rushed in, inquiring breathlessly, "What time is it?" Whereupon Joan Newton looked up to exclaim, "Goodness, it must be late!"

Seen in the Globe Editorial Rooms — B. A. Holland, author of that delightful epic of school days, "Life Begins at 2:30", and M. L. Barnard, whose "Things Are Where You Find Them" has made the best-seller's list, discussing the merits of Roberta Gately's recitation of her original verses entitled "Elegy in a City Schoolyard."

Fredda Wicks, Virginia Brent, Mary Nelson, Marie Foley, and Anita Randall, this season's debutantes, have sacrificed their curly locks to join the WAVES. The girls admit their disappointment at results, for although they want to see the world, at present they are enjoying K. P. duties in a nearby city. A woman's work is never done!

Norma Hain, President of the Six Footer Club, announced today that initiation of new members, Ruth Kanaan and Ellen McCarthy, will take place Wednesday.

Radio Interviews

Resting between appearances in Wagnerian opera, songbirds Gladys Foster and Claire Cronin, charm radio audiences daily over station WAAC with their appealing interpretations of the pitiable housewife bereft of indispensable "Drooper Suds" and the sobbing honeymooner with red, roughened hands.

The first performance of the "Rautenburg Revels", presented by the Cormack and Dunn Sleeping Powder Company, was heard over the network last night. Miss Rautenburg favored her listeners with choice selections from her repertoire of original sob poetry. She was accompanied by doleful wails from the violins of Alice Lichwell and Rose and Mary Kelly. The dual effect of this presentation was to cause both sponsors and audience to burst into tears. Nevertheless, the latter stoutly maintained that the tears were caused by onion juice liberally sprinkled on chairs and platforms before the show.

SPORTS

Olympic Winners Arrive

Returning from the Olympic Games held at Athens were Jean Cummings and Ann McGrath. Both girls bore gold and bronze testimonials to their prowess in the field of sports. Of Miss Cummings the Syndicated Press wrote: "Never had fans beheld such superb skill. One obstacle after another was hurdled, each jump swift, daring, and complete. She well deserves the title Checker Champ of the World.

Art Exhibition Attracts Thousands

An exhibition of modern sculpture and painting, held at the New York Museum of Day Arts during the past week, is being continued at the request of an enthusiastic public. Artists Helene Rones, Francoise Fredey, and Jean Graham, whose works are among the most popular, will be today's lecturers.

Miss Graham, associated with the Walt Disney studios, will present an illustrated lecture on "Doodling — its causes and effects."

Miss Fredey's dissertation will concern the all-important work of designing billboards. Her latest masterpiece, consisting of a green pasture, one pound of butter, one steak (medium) and ten ration coupons, is a tribute to modern appreciation of the beautiful.

Marines Praise Tokio's Hotel Service

Tokio (AP) June 5 — The ever polite Japanese are making amends for the inhospitable reception accorded to unexpected guests, all members of the U. S. Marine Corps some years ago.

The Marines at that time sought to teach the Japanese a lesson in etiquette. Point was given to their arguments by the Dews Standard Rifle (now approved by the Marines) and the Green Hornets, a squadron of U. S. Navy dive bombers, led by Commander "Dick" Salisbury, famous for his reckless daring.

Since peace has been restored, the Emperor's Palace has been taken over by three Marine officers, Lieutenant-Colonels Jack Walsh, Bob Harvey, and James Lane. They say that there is nothing quite like having the Emperor serve you breakfast in bed.

Scientific Discovery Tested by Gilbertson

A new vitamin pill in a slightly concentrated form has been perfected by Prof. Douglas H. Thompson, of Zilch University. Among its many ingredients the pill is said to contain tincture of banana oil, a few grains of aspirin, carbonated compound of bug juice, and two teaspoonfuls of concentrated T. N. T. Science, on analyzing the pill, declared it to be slightly powerful.

But Elmer Gilbertson widely known as a professional mattress tester, claims that the pills have not had the slightest effect on him.

Park Department Promotes Captain Cross

Captain Llewellyn L. Cross, commanding the Flagship Pneumonia of the Boston Public Garden Swanboat Service, which shot down a peanut-poaching pigeon, was promoted to the rank of Vice-Admiral by the Park Department.

The action took place last week on the High Pond. Two minutes after sighting the hostile bird off the Pneumonia's port bow, the crew alert and determined, manned the ship's one half inch pop-gun. The crew's efficiency was sorely tried, but after a short, sharp struggle the pigeon was hit dead amidships, and soon dropped into the pond. With this battle, the wave of piracy on the High Pond ended.

Those among the ship's company who were decorated with Red Cross pins included: Chief Engineer Edward Keefe, who sits behind the Swan. Chief Bosun's Mate Doug Bensusan, who first sighted the pigeon, Lieutenant (junior grade) Alanson Dawes, who had charge of the gun crew.

Danger in Franco-American Relations Seen

According to a reliable authority (an old grad of R. H. S.) our relations with France may suffer a collapse. Rapid Raymond Cushing, noted for his weird Parisian accent, has recently been appointed American ambassador to France.

U. S. S. Crawford Launched at Hagelstein Shipyard

Quincy, Mass., June 5 — A new destroyer was launched today at Hagelstein Shipyard. It was named in honor of Ralph Crawford, the U. S. Navy's Sergeant York of the Second World War.

Crawford, a Gunner's Mate 2nd Class, served on the cruiser Boston, commanded by Captain "Joltin' Joe" MacNeil.

The appearance of a squadron of Japanese dive bombers provoked Crawford to the use of such colorful language that Chaplain's Assistant Donald Campbell hastily rushed up from below decks. Campbell, however, was so struck by what he saw that he completely forgot his original purpose.

"When the dive bombers swooped close to the ship, Crawford, at his anti-aircraft gun, gave them such a withering look that, in sheer panic, the entire squadron dived into the sea," Campbell later stated.

"Two other squadrons of Japs, sensing that Crawford was in a bad mood and would destroy them with his anti-aircraft fire, both surrendered to the cruiser," Campbell also said.

At today's launching, the Crawford was christened by the wife of Governor T. J. Schnickelfritz, the former Barbara Gibbons of Roslindale.

The Social Whirl

New York, N. Y. June 5 — The members of Ladder Company 66 2/3 of the City Fire Department, in charge of Captain William Haggerty, were amazed today when their 200-foot ladder collapsed. Later, the cause was found to be Ladderman Herbie Von Euw, who was in a playful mood.

The collapse occurred while Ladderman Dick Pipitone was disputing as to who should rescue Miss Mary D'Amelio from a burning Park Avenue penthouse. His opponent was Mr. Peter Crockett, of Crockett's Collars for Cultured Canines.

Pipitone, Crockett, and the lady in question were at the top of the ladder.

The three were left hanging on the window ledge until Mahler of the Master Mind, who gained fame by his solution of the R. H. Murder Case, arrived on the scene. The blaze was put out by Miss Anne Richards, who argued against it.

Mahler, who scaled the building in three stories, rescued all concerned including Pipitone, Crockett, Miss D'Amelio, Miss Hazel Hamilton, Mr. Robert Rowans, and Miss Richards. Mr. Rowan was overcome with excitement, but was quickly revived by a milk shake.

Morrison Returns

After leaving town for several days to avoid the Great Gamble Finance Company (President, Mr. Richard Gamble) which recently collapsed, Clifford Morrison is now back in society.

New Position for Mr. Quaglieri

Dario Quaglieri, who, in his high school days was looked upon as a rare phenomenon — an eager Latin student — is now composing mottoes in Latin for breakfast cereal companies.

His latest position has been given him by the makers of Gifford's Granulated Goodies, a new cereal.

We wish him luck, and hope no one translates the mottoes.

Military Courtesy Given Doorman

Major General Timothy Sweeney, U. S. Army, saluted the doorman of the Hotel Ritz-Copeman, thinking he was the Hungarian military attaché.

The doorman, Stuart Bacon, one-time candidate for West Point, says he much prefers his doorman's uniform to that of the Military Academy.

Diver to do Research Work in South Atlantic

New York, June 5 — The new research ship Sea-Wolf, carrying Diver Kenneth Crook to the South Atlantic Ocean and the Caribbean Sea, sailed early today.

The expedition is sponsored by the Hughesian Museum at Washington. The Hughesian Museum is the contribution to science of Dorothy Hughes, first (and last) woman President of the United States.

Durkee Main Circus Attraction

Bill Durkee, popular lion-tamer (except with the lions) exhibits his technique of subduing the lions next Saturday afternoon at Boston Garden. He keeps the lions begging for mercy by telling them jokes he makes up.

Captain Stevens Home On Leave

Captain Ronald Stevens, U. S. N., who enlisted as a seaman back in 1943, was received by his friends with amazement today. No other man in the Navy ever attained a Captain's rank in so short a time as he.

"I am just a super-streamlined version of the 90-day wonder," claims he. "No, the Admiral's daughter didn't have a thing to do with it." Oh, no!

Jordan College Beagles Triumph Over Moraski University's Grid Champs

Scranton, Pa. June 5 — In a special summer game for the benefit of the Edward Hickey Hodcarrier's Association, the gladiators of Moraski University were narrowly nosed out of a win by a score of only 99-0. The win was scored by the Jordan College Beagles, who had the superb playing of Jimmy Finn and

"Brutal Bob" White as an advantage. This passing combination accounted for the lead.

Finn and White had an addiitonal advantage over the Moraskimen, as they have been freshmen at Jordan College for twenty years, and know the game thoroughly.

Moraski U. is coached by Ken Arnold, sensational track streak in high school.

Fast-spielng Joe Thomson, dean of sports commentators, reported the thrilling contest of stations WARP, WIT, and WOOF.

The Sad Case of the Nocturnal Fiddler

The sensitive virtuoso, Paulo Clausmeyer, his genius apparently unrecognized, holds open-air violin concerts on his back fence every Saturday night.

The neighbors, it seems, refuse to discriminate between the plaintive squeaks of the fiddle and the mournful yowls of the cats, and waste old bottles and buckshot on both.

Radio Reports

Miss Joan Macdonald, who accepts only tragic leads on the stage and screen, has consented to play the role of Gabrielle O'Shaughnessy, heart-rending heroine of "Right to Romance," sponsored by Stuart's Sublime Soap, Inc.

This program will be heard Mondays through Fridays at 2:15 p. m. over station WACK, Chicago The oratical Ralph Lightbody will soon enter the homes of Americans all over the country, via the radio. He has recently bene appointed Lucky Strike Tobacco Auctioneer for the Hit Parade. Mr. Lightbody says he owes his recent rise to the R. H. S. Debating Society, which started him on the road to fame.

BOYS' STUDENT COUNCIL

The Boys' Student Council was organized by Mr. Landrigan for the purpose of helping to maintain order in the school. They work chiefly in the lunch room which by their efforts has become a cleaner and tidier place. In order that the girls will not be disturbed while studying during their home room period, councillors are stationed on the stairs to prevent jovial boys from passing into the upstairs corridors. The student council is always on hand to help out in any unexpected events. They are deserving of much praise, because they cheerfully give up much of their own time for the good of the school.

YEAR BOOK COMMITTEE

This year, the YEAR BOOK committee was divided into specific branches, with a faculty adviser directing the pupils who worked in each department.

TATTLER STAFF

Once more The Tattler completes a school year with the satisfaction of having served its purpose as the chief means by which the activities of school life may find expression. This year all departments of the paper show that our students have become war conscious. Their essays are largely upon war subjects, their editorials grapple with the problems of the post-war world, and even their fiction is based on experiences reported from the great conflict. Again, our news and alumni columns and reports from our clubs and societies reveal the part our school is taking in the war effort. In spite of this, however, adequate attention has been given to normal life.

TATTLER REPRESENTATIVES

In each home room it is the task of the Tattler Representative to collect money for subscriptions to the school magazine, The Tattler.

This year a new system has been used. The students have paid five cents each week. A large graph outside the office has shown the progress of each room. Even though the drive extended over a period of ten weeks, a number of rooms had attained their goal of one hundred per cent subscription after the second week. Despite the fact that the enrollment of the student body has been less this year than before, there are more pupils supporting the magazine. This new plan has proved to be very successful.

Second Row — Douglas Bensusan, Rose Kelly, Claire Epp, Jean Burch, Edith Cousin, Barbara Grant, Florence Boudreau, Priscilla Shaw, Shirley Kins, Miss Burke
Third Row — Robert Barr, Donald Gillis, Daniel Reilly, Eileen O'Meara, Jean Clark, Marie Donoghue, Helen Neas, Richard Home, Edward Byrnes, Albert Tobin

First Row — Richard Horne, Miss Burke, Lorraine Murphy, Barbara Ammidown, Marie O'Brien, Ruth Fitzgerald, Bette Rossetti, Marguerite Carr, Mr. Landrigan
Second Row — Phyllis Kremer, Alma Ciarlone, Claire Kent, Jean Vance, Rose Vozzella, Ann Colantuono, Janet Farrell, Jane Reed
Third Row — Albert Tobin, Charles McBride, Llewellyn Cross, Thomas O'Connell, Bruce Morrison, Ralph Lightbody, Raymond Lynch, Frank Ricci

TATTLER STAFF

It has been our desire this year to increase the number of students who are officially active in producing the school paper; hence the larger groups in The Tattler pictures. As a result, we have been able to obtain more plentiful and more intimate news items from all classes, and we have had more pupils soliciting advertisements and subscriptions.

In addition to this, the essays and stories sent to the editors have been more numerous than heretofore. Although most of these have not been printed, they have not been written in vain: for their authors not only have gained practice in writing, but have probably made progress toward having their contributions published in later issues.

CADET OFFICERS

Ever since the school was established, there has been an organization of cadet officers. In May they are given a chance to show the results of their work at a prize drill conducted at Fallon Field. The companies are rated by competent Army Officers, and the captains and officers of the winning companies receive promotions. The captain of the winning companies becomes a high officer at the head of the street parade that follows in June. His first lieutenant becomes a captain of the company. The captain of the second best company is in charge of the whole Roslindale regiment, and his minor officers also move up another step. Thus, the other captains are part of the Roslindale staff.

DRUM CORPS

This year our Drum Corps hopes to take first place in the street parade as it did in 1940, although the corps has lost about a fourth of its members.

Our original Captain and Drum Major, James Lane, is now serving with the Marines, leaving Vincent D'Antuono as Captain and Drum Major. The Drum Corps is under the direction of Mr. Gabele of the school faculty. Mr. H. John Calabro is the drum instructor, and Mr. Arlie W. Latham teaches the buglers.

With these excellent instructors and plenty of school spirit the Drum Corps should make a good showing again this year.

First Row — Robert Goode, William Downey, James Cunningham, Russell Sabbag, Ronnie Pine, Emil Holland, George McGowan, Thomas Soulner
Second Row — Captain Walter Bridges, Daniel McCarty, Charles Hartigan, George Niland, Alfred Deely, Edward Mallett, David Gretsch
Third Row — Mr. Gabele, Norman Shea, Robert Kennedy, William Kearney, James Conboy, Robert Zokas, James Manning

Second Row — Dana Freeman, Captain William Hagerty, David Fraime, Daniel Reilly, Daniel Moraski, Herbert Roberts, Joseph Cipriano, Hilary Keane, John Valois, Thomas Brooks, Gerald Sybertz

BAND

The Band of '43 began this year with an enrollment of eighty members, a record in the school's history. Mr. Gabele, the teacher in charge of the band, encouraged many of the boys in the school to study musical instruments. Most of the new members were recruited from the Sophomore and Junior classes, and are now studying under the supervision of the teachers of the various instruments. The Band, which now numbers fifty members, is considered to be a good size organization.

Under the guidance of Mr. Sordillo, Mr. Gardiner, and Lieutenant Burke, the band has had a successful year.

At Ease!

FOOTBALL

The Roslindale eleven had a successful season, winning every game but one — that with South Boston.

The first line backfield was made up of Captain Irving Nehmer, quarterback, Frank Rando and Tony Tufo, half-backs, and Dario Quagliari, fullback. Eugene O'Brien, William Mahoney, and Charles Kettendorf did fine jobs as backfield substitutes.

HOCKEY

"District Champions" was the title won for the school by this year's hockey team. The team came out victorious in every game on the schedule, and had only three points scored against it all season.

In the first game Roslindale walked over South Boston to the tune of 6-0, and on the following week topped Brandeis Vocational 3-1. The Roslindale-Charlestown match was the toughest of the season, the score remaining tied 1-1 until the last period, when Frank Rando sank the puck to make the winning score Roslindale 2. Charlestown 1. In the following two games Roslindale shout out East Boston 3-0 and Jamaica Plain 1-0. The season ended triumphantly when Brighton was beaten with a 6-1 score.

First Row — William Mahoney, John Gillis, Francis Mahoney, Frank Rando, George Thalin, William Travers, Frank Weider, Richard Horne, William Murray
Second Row — Mr. Murray, Richard O'Neil, Paul O'Donnell, William Downey, John Valois, George Weigold, William Durkee, Michael Munns

TRACK

The end of the track season found Roslindale three times in second place in as many quadrangular meets. The tracksters also took a fifth in the District meet, and collected a point in the Regimentals.

Outstanding in the A-B group were Ken Stickney in the dash, Lothrop Jordan and Dick Johnson in the hurdles, Larry McNamee in the 300, Mike Munns in the 600, and Ken Arnold in the 1000 yard run. Class C was held up by Herbert Von Euw, who ran the hurdles, Edward Burns in the dash, John Arnold in the 440, and Joseph Manning in the 220. Albert Deely, a hurdler, and Dan Reilly and Phil Magaldi, runners in the 176, represented the D group.

BOYS' BOWLING CLUB

The boys of the bowling club have gone bowling once a week at the West Roxbury Bowling Center under the direction of Mr. MacGregor. The bowling has proved a fast moving sport.

The two highest averages have been made by Charles Mortali, with a score of 92. and Al Fernis, with a score of 90. Dick Ferris holds the highest single score of 116. Ken Stickney and Charles Mortali each holds a 115 for second place.

As the year ends, we are able to look back and remember all the fun we have had bowling.

First Row — Philip Magaldi, Lawrence Hunter, Alan Ferris, Douglas Thompson, Leo Bilodeau, Richard Manning

Second Row — Roger Gifford, Kenneth Stickney, Mr. MacGregor, George O'Brien, Richard Ferris, Peter DeGeorge

BASEBALL

At the beginning of the baseball season all but one of the ten baseball letter men who expected to return had joined the armed forces. This left Coach Murray with the problem of making a winning team from only two seniors and a group of juniors and sophomores. Only three games have been played so far this season, but the Roslindale technique is improving with every one. The Roslindale-Memorial was a tough one, in which Rossie was nosed out 4 to 3. The East Boston match seemed at the start like another defeat, but Roslindale rallied in the sixth to overcome a five point lead and win with a 12 to 10 score. In the last game played to date — that with Dorchester — the score was Roslindale 5, Dorchester 9.

BADMINTON

Apparently badminton is as popular with the Sophomores and Juniors as it is with the Seniors. This year, for the first time, Miss Keough opened our club to all of the classes in the school. This increased our number from fifteen to fifty. Anyone interested in witnessing either Badminton or a debate should come to the gym any Tuesday afternoon between 2:30 and 3:45. You will be sure to find a group of excited players trying to settle one of the many arguments over the rules of the game.

GIRLS' BOWLING CLUB

The Bowling Club for Senior girls went bowling on Monday afternoons after school. Miss Sullivan and Miss Cogan wer in charge of this activity. Anita Sullivan, 208, took care of recording the attendance and scores.

The girls bowled at the alleys in West Roxbury until the fuel situation caused them to close on Mondays. They then transferred to the alleys in Roslindale.

Girls who bowled 90 or over had their names in the Tattler. The girls have enjoyed some excellent afternoons of fun and exercise.

When, in March, the West Roxbury alleys re-opened on Mondays, the bowling was resumed there.

SETTING-UP DRILL LEADERS

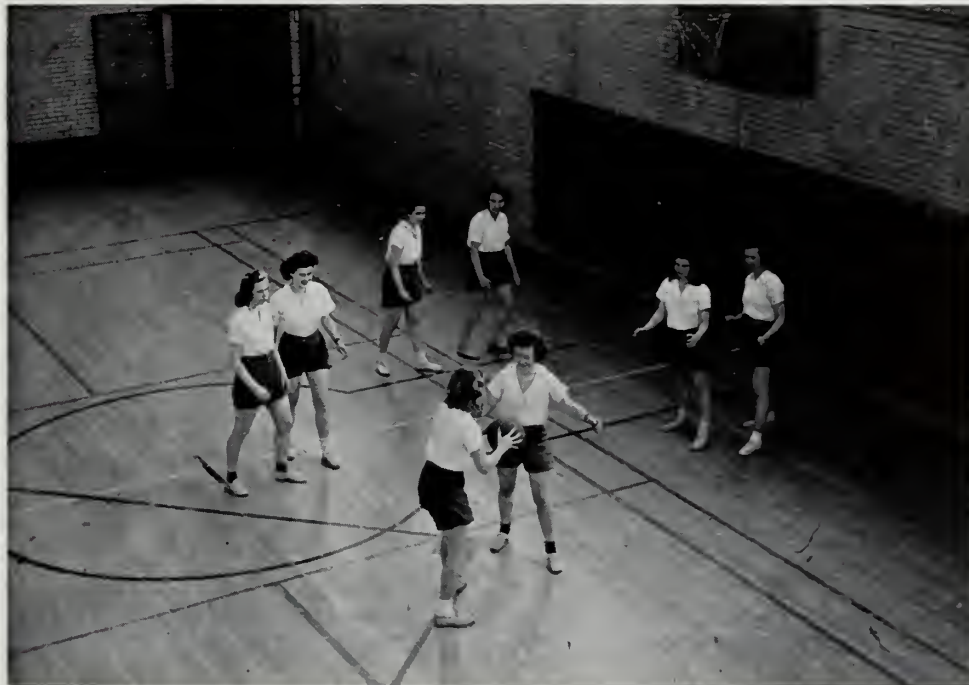

That "health is wealth" is just as wise
 As "early to bed and early to rise."
 So setting-up drill now begins
 Each morning sharp at half past ten.
 Girls rise, and fling the windows wide,
 Clear desks, and stand up side by side
 To exercise, thus earning wealth
 So prized by all — the glow of health.

In May, each class in our High
 Unites its effort for the try
 At individual renown,
 So each can proudly tell the town
 That her room won the banner and fame
 And so deserve a just acclaim.
 Then she remembers with a thrill,
 It was good fun, our set-up drill.

Barbara Gibbons

GIRLS' BASKET BALL CLUB

Here we are — the energetic girls of the basket ball team! Every Wednesday we meet in the gym and play a hard, fast, exciting game. Needless to say, we are very enthusiastic about the game and get a great deal of enjoyment out of playing it. Under Miss Lundstedt's coaching, we have improved much since the first of the year and in March played against our rivals, the peppy Junior team. Although we were kept constantly on our toes, through expert teamwork we managed to win by a small margin. It was hard work — but great fun!

Edith Cousin, Margaret Osborne, Barbara Gibbons, Claire Harol, Anita Sullivan, Catherine Clayton, Patricia Spillane, Jean Cummings

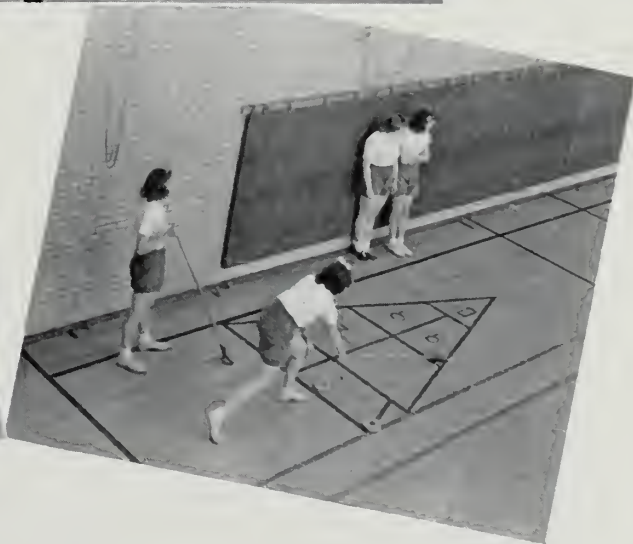

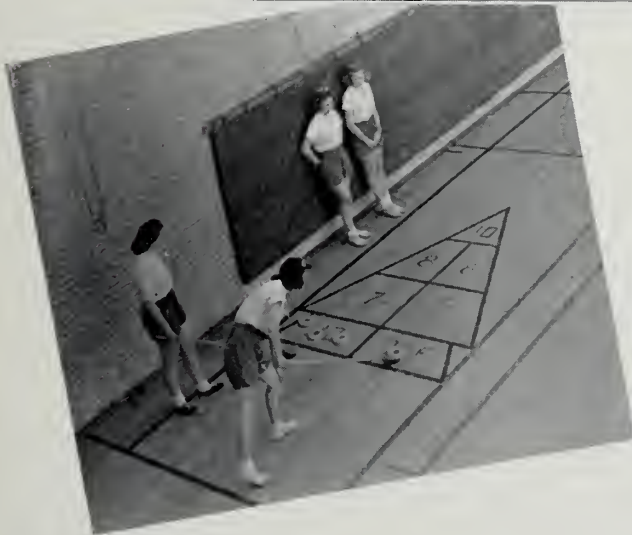

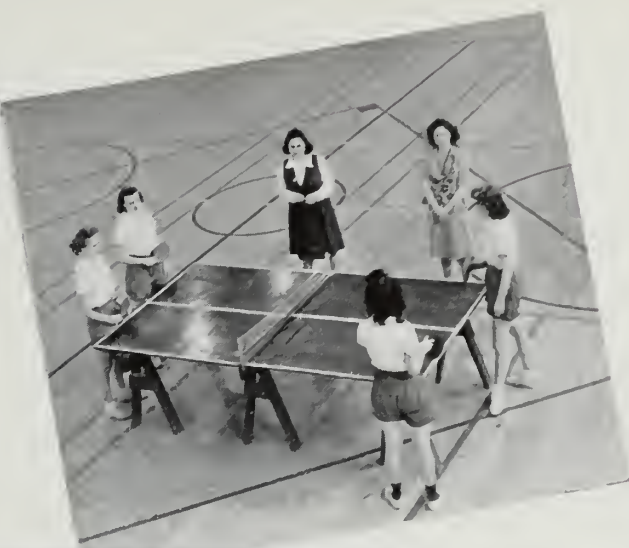

Virginia Dunn, Mary Cornack, Louise Sullivan

RIDING CLUB

The Roslindale High School Riding Club is now completing its second year of activity. Miss Cogan has been the leader for both years.

Beginners learn riding very quickly after the first few lessons, and from then on enjoy it immensely. This club has been the nursery school of some excellent riders. The members ride at the Weld Stock Farm every Friday afternoon. An instructor is always with the club, and teaches the members fundamentals of good riding.

The newcomers ride in the ring until they learn the knack of handling a horse, while the more experienced enjoy the beautiful bridle path through the Arboretum.

First Row — Elizabeth Mason, Virginia Miller, Mary Regan, Patricia Richards, Marie Hughes, Helen Kazaka, Ellen McCarrick, Helen Kremer

ORCHESTRA

Under the able direction of Mr. Joseph Wagner, the orchestra is now ending a very successful year. On Tuesday morning and on Friday afternoon after school, one may hear anything from a Strauss waltz to a Sousa march pour forth from the Assembly Hall. Although the exigencies of war have somewhat reduced our numbers, we still have a wide variety of instruments: violins, basses, flutes, clarinets, trumpets, trombone, saxophone, baritone, piano, and percussion. We have played at several assemblies: Columbus Day, Armistice Day, Christmas, a birthday celebration for Lincoln and Washington, at a special Music Assembly in May, and at Graduation.

GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Famiglietti, has grown in excellence as it ends a year of splendid work. For many years, this club has been maintained for the purpose of providing musical enjoyment for all the pupils of the school. At the Christmas assembly, the Glee Club provided entertainment by rendering several selections. We are fortunate in having as our soloists, Clair Cronin and Gladys Foster, who are planning to sing a duet at Graduation.

The Seniors of Roslindale High wish the Glee Club and Mr. Famiglietti much success in the years to come.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club was organized in order that pupils of the Spanish classes might have an opportunity to apply their knowledge of the language in a pleasant manner. The carefully planned programs of entertainment, which include songs, piano solos, recitations, and refreshments, are enjoyed by everyone. An outstanding feature of this club is the donation of excess dues to some worthy cause, such as the Library Fund.

The members of the club are very grateful to their Spanish teachers, Miss Stavrinis and Miss McGettrick, for their cheerful assistance and guidance, which have aided in making the club a success.

DEBATING SOCIETY

The Debating Society of Roslindale High School opened its first meeting this fall with many new members and with newly elected officers.

The debates this year proved to be of great interest because of the various topics of national and international interest, such as, "Whether or not to form a United States of Europe." These debates have been supplemented occasionally by light material, such as, "Is swing music more popular in America than classical music?"

This year has been a profitable one for the Debating Society. We thank Miss Riley, our adviser, for the help and training that we have received.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross of today is ever increasing in importance. The results of its efforts are being sent to soldiers all over the world, and here at home we are aiding our own boys to the best of our ability. Among Roslindale's contributions are khaki service bags, gay menu covers, books, bandages, dolls, and toys. Even former graduates remembered the Red Cross, and sent in beautiful scrap-books, which were greatly appreciated.

As "Aid for Victory" is the motive of Junior service, we with our comparatively small but useful donations, hope to make easier the road to ultimate victory.
